A Sacramento Area Newspaper for Lesbians, Gay Men, & Friends

IT'S ABOUT TIME!!!

Hey Mom, Sacramento's got a new Gay newspaper.

"MOM . . . GUESS WHAT . . . ! is a tabloid newspaper that happens to be Gay. It's for women and men in the Sacramento Valley area and the Mother Lode countries who happen to be gay and for their friends who happen to like sharing the enjoyment of their friends who happen to be gay.

"MOM . . .GUESS WHAT . . .!" is designed to appeal to the interests of a lot of nice people who may not know each other yet but probably should.

After all, Sacramento's a big place. In and around River City there are thousands of Lesbians, Gay Men, and Friends of all ages and all walks of life who are not only interesting and unique in themselves, but who are also eager to find out more about each other and about their many opportunities for social activity, recreation, and personal growth through involvement with each other.

Starting November 1, 1978, "MOM . . . GUESS WHAT . . . !" will appear every month with local news and special articles of interest to the Gay community. Among the regular features will be a calendar of upcoming events, a guide to entertaining places in the area, and a listing of social organizations and how they can be reached. Readers will be encouraged to communicate with each other in our classified ads and speak their own minds on community affairs in our letters to the Editor. We want to be as accessible as we can to business establishments and social groups that feel good about their relationship with the Gay community in Sacramento and wish to advertise in the paper.

"MOM . . . GUESS WHAT . . . !" will be distributed in the gay bars, restaurants, the Sacramento Women Center, other social places, and will be mailed to individuals on a subscription basis.

Our readers are reminded each issue that publication of names or photographs of any person, organization, and businesses in advertising and articles in "MOM . . . GUESS WHAT . . . !" is not to be construed as any indication of sexual orientation of such person, organization, or business.

Pulling our community together both on a personal basis, and encouraging our readers to support gay businesses are the newspaper primary goals. November 16 we are holding an "input-brainstorming meeting" for people that would like to contribute to building a stronger gay community and consciousness here in Sacramento. We are inviting ALL readers to come and express their feelings about the paper. We are looking for opinions, writers, photographers, typists, distributors, subscription-circulation managers, advertising representatives, artists, cartoonists, puzzles (crossword, etc.), etc. The only way this paper will succeed is if everyone contributes on an ongoing basis!!

So mark your calendars: "Input-Brainstorming Meeting", November 16, 1978, Thursday evening, 7:00 P.M., Earhart's Cafe, 1905 16th St. & S, Free wine! Bring friends!! Bring articles, art, photography, ideas for the paper!!

It's a pleasure to welcome "Mom...Guess What....! To the Sacramento area.

"Tabloids," as papers of this design and format are called, have traditionally been the most entertaining - sometimes sensational - of available periodicals.

The fact that this paper has a unifying theme that has rarely been developed in this area is refreshing.

Best wishes for your success.

Sincerely,

Dear Readers:

I would like to extend a warm welcome to "Mom...Guess What...!", Sacramento's newest bi-weekly newspaper. "Mom...Guess What...!" is a tabloid newspaper that happens to be directed toward the gay people in Sacramento and the outlying areas.

The battles fought for freedom of the press and freedom of speech were not won easily. Those who fought to give us this heritage displayed courage, dignity and concern for all people's rights.

I would ask that the staff of "Mom...Guess What...!" carry forth this heritage with a pride and respect befitting any publication available to our citizens.

I wish you success with your endeavors.

Sincerely,

Sandra R. Smoley

"We Have A Dream of a Better Day"

Dr. Josette Mondanaro scored point after point against State senator John Briggs in their debate on the subject of Proposition 6.

The two debated before an audience estimated at 2,000 in the Encina High School cafeteria on Monday evening, October 16. The debate sponsored by Junior State of Encina High, was marked by spirited applause, commentary, and questioning from the predominantly anti-6 crowd.

The media covered the debate extensively, bringing out Mondanaro's skillful use of rhetoric and her mastery of the facts. Briggs spoke feebly and vaguely, failing even to stick to his points, much less back them up.

Physicians Unite!

"I am a gay dentist who has lived in Sacramento four years. I am concerned about gay problems and issues, and want to get more involved. Sacramento has a large gay population. There are a lot of people who go to San Francisco to be gay, but then return to their homes in Sacramento and keep a low profile. It is time we did something in our own community towards helping ourselves.

Professional people are generally well respected by the community. If they join together and become more visible, not necessarily individually but as a group, it should have a positive effect on people who think they don't know any gays. In the City, gay physicians have organized the "Bay Area Physicians for Human Rights". I feel that in Sacramento there are sufficient gay people to start a similar group.

I have contacted some local doctors by letter through the help of the Bay Area group. The response from them has been encouraging. I would like to hear from other doctors who might be interested in joining our group. Our first meeting will be held on Sunday, November 12, at 7:00 P.M. At that time we will lay the groundwork for this organization. Please contact me if interested. My phone number is 486-0150 at home and 488-2440 at the office.

LINDA TILLERY: INTUNE!!

Hot! Hot! Hot! Linda Tillery and Friends most definitely set the Sac City College auditorium on fire. An energetic crowd experienced a musical feat of incredible sound. There was finger popping, hand clapping, feet stomping and aisle dancing, accompanying most of the band's set. Linda Tillery, as always strong & clear, can take you to places you never thought you'd visit again. The band is well organized and are leaving soon to kick off an eastern tour.

The concert was a benefit for the Sacramento Women's Center, and it successfully brought together many divergent women's groups from the Sacramento & Davis areas.

Accompanying Tillery were: Theresa Trull supporting vocals, Vicki Randle, supporting vocals (watch this one!) Mary Watkins: electric piano, Colleen Stewart: moog synthesizer, acoustic piano, Jerene Jackson: electric guitar & Diane Lindsay: electric bass. Each one of these musicians brings with her an expertise that combined give an effect of total musical balance. Here's hopeing that the band will be together a long time. Linda Tillery's first album is available at the Sacramento Women's Center.

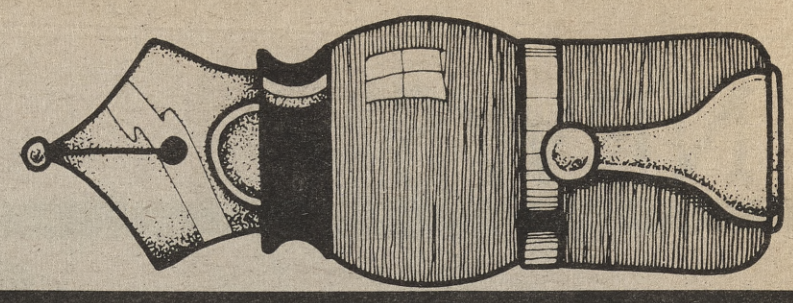
WRITE!



Dear Editor:

"The American flag doesn't fly over the gay nation", wrote Patricia Nell Warren in her touching novel about gay life, The Front Runner.

Until Proposition 6 and the gay political organizers mobilized our community, few politicians considered the interests of the gay voter. There appeared to be no true democratic privilege of choice for those gays who wished to be fully represented.

No matter what the voters decide on Proposition 6, we owe our thanks to Senator Briggs for bringing purpose and organization to a very large group of California voters. If we actually comprise 10% of the population and if we exercise our voting privilege, that large block of votes could make a significant difference in our future political leadership.

The network of politically active gays and gay rights advocates in the community must continue to grow and assume a place in politics long after Proposition 6 is decided upon. The test of time will show us where our true political strength lies and our "X's" marked in private will remain our privilege. Our strength in the polls and our unity of purpose will force politicians to take a stand on gay rights. Let them seek our endorsements for their campaigns.

Nancy Bohaty, candidate for San Juan School Board, has proved her support as a human rights advocate in the workplace. She has pledged her support to us as a human rights advocate in the schools. Let's support her with our votes and seek out other candidates who are willing to take a similar stand to protect and advocate our rights.

We must continue to be politically involved. The American flag flies only for those who recognize its symbolic utility in achieving political equality.

Games Mother Never Taught You

You know the feeling — you're listening glumly to the "success story" of some corporate executive — and suddenly it hits you that a big factor in the man's success are the lucky breaks that he gets for just being male.

And you look back at the years in college, the years spent doing your damndest at your job, and you realize that not once has your boss ever sat down and said "You've got a helluva lot of talent, and I'd like to see you head up the new department . . ." Wanna know why? And what you can do about it? Read Games Mother Never Taught You.

I'ts for you if you work for Pacific Telephone, or the State of California, or the school system. And it's for you if you're self-employed. You still come into contact with the male power structure. It's even for you if you work in a two-person office like I do. This book is a practical tool that you can use to learn the hidden rules of the working game.

Author Harragan says it's important women don't get "deflected, distracted or discouraged simply because they don't know the ground rules of what is essentially a childish and heretofore strictly a boy's game — playing corporate politics." She says that "When a participant knows what forces are controlling the moves of experienced players, she is in a position to outwit, outmaneuver, and outplay the opposition — and win."

What Harragan doesn't say (but goes understood) is that a knowledge of those rules can also give women the wrench they need to throw into the working of the corporate systems, if they prefer.

Harragan takes on many of the myths about women workers, and explodes them for what they are - male diversionary tactics. She takes a close look at the idea that women should try to soothe the discomfort that their presence causes in men. Harragan shows why "working harder" or getting an advanced college degree doesn't work for women, and then gives some concrete alternatives.

She talks about the rampant homophobia that permeates all-male groups, and says a lesbian woman may even have an advantage over her straight sisters — she won't be as likely to try to construct a phony "feminine" stereotype role which will only weaken her professional stance.

It's the best book I've read in a couple of years. Harragan is undeniably feminist throughout the book — and at her best when she says women stand to make wonderful players of corporate politics and ultimately — when they get to be dealer — they can exercise their prerogative to change the rules to "dealer's choice."

BEAUTY QUEEN

The Beauty Queen by Patricia Nell Warren. William Morrow & Co. Hardcover, 287 pp. $9.95

Patricia Nell Warren has cranked out a new book on her topical gay novel machine. In The Beauty Queen, a former beauty queen turned born-again Baptist, Jeannie Laird Colter, makes a vehement anti-homosexual crusade the focus of her re-entry into politics after a breakdown.

In Warren's first novel, The Front Runner, she dealt with gay people in sports. In her second, The Fancy Dancer, she dealt with gay people and the Roman Catholic Church. People who have read both of these books know that she tells a good story, often captures the imagination and the emotions of her readers, and manages to disseminate a good deal of interesting and useful information in the process.

They also know that Patricia Nell Warren is not a great writer. Her novels creak under the weight of overloaded symbols (the wild bird motif in The Front Runner), yawn with tired cliches, and wander with implausible plots (the gay priest becoming the Bishop's righthand man in The Fancy Dancer).

The Beauty Queen continues the pattern. The story is good, if at times a bit unbelievable. The characters and their lives grip the imagination, if at times choking it with gaucheries.

And there is a great deal of information in this book, both about experiences and attitudes, and about organizations and institutions.

One of the parts of the gay world that Warren has decided we need education about is leather and S & M. So, two of the main characters, Armando and Danny, wear chains and leather and have a relationship that includes the pleasure of pain.

Lesbians in earlier Warren novels have been either non-existent or pretty incredible; in The Beauty Queen, however, Liv and Mary Ellen present a good, if somewhat sketchy, portrait of a lesbian couple.

Nor does Warren forget older gay people, including those who are or have been married. Sam Rauch helps fill out the background of the novel, while Bill Laird and his lover Marion play an important part of the story. They are also a charming rebuttal to the notion that there's no love for gay men in their 50's and older.

And all of these people's lives get mixed up in Jeannie Colter's anti-gay vendetta. As their stories unfold simultaneously, we see how no action is isolated — how the bigot's anti-gay attacks strike down real individuals, not just the fantastical, faceless "homosexuals" produced in warped moralistic imaginations.

This seems to me Patricia Nell Warren's main point in The Beauty Queen — that no one's life is really separate from anyone else's, and that because of this shared humanity we must respect and love our brothers and sisters, whoever they are. And, in the climactic events of this novel, Warren seems to be saying that there is still hope for this mutual respect if we can stop regarding each other as impersonal objects and start relating to each other as individual women and men, unique personalities with a shared humanity.

Holly Near/Meg Christian

On Saturday November 4th at 8:00 p.m., Holly Near and Meg Christian are performing their music at Sacramento City College Auditorium. Along with J.T. Thomas, they are presently on a statewide tour designed to entertain, advocate, and raise funds for organizations working for the defeat of Proposition Six. This measure, also known as the Briggs Initiative, is on the November ballot and would require investigations into the private lives of any public school employees who are accused of supporting, advocating, or being homosexuals.

Both Holly Near and Meg Christian have received overwhelming grassroots support for their continued individual efforts to promote human rights. Their musical talents have been combined for this Saturday evening, pre-election concert. The original music of both women will be accompanied by Meg's highly-polished guitar playing and J.T. Thomas' piano performance.

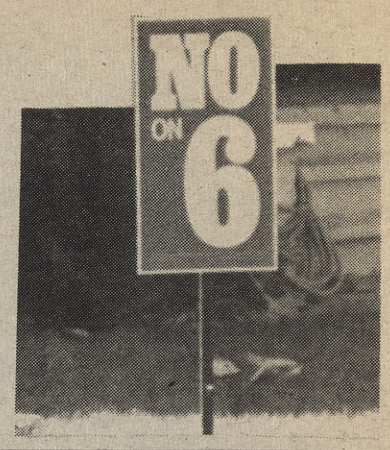
Holly Near is a singer, songwriter, and cultural worker who has three albums out on her own label, Redwood Records. Her voice is powerful and clear as she sings songs that speak to the joys and struggles that are familiar to women around the world.

Meg Christian is a feminist singer, songwriter, guitarist, and autoharpist. Her style encompasses aspects of classical, folk, country, mountain, and comtemporary music. She has written and collected a large and varied repertoire of women's music: music that talks about what it's really like to be a woman. She has two albums out on Olivia Records, an Oakland-based women's music collective.

The performance at Sacramento City College Auditorium is produced by Crystal Moon Productions in conjunction with Olivia Records, Redwood Records, Roadwork, Women's Alliance for Change and Sacramento Valley No on Six. Part of the proceeds from this concert will be going to organizations working against Proposition Six.

The auditorium is wheelchair accessible and doors will be open at 7:15. Tickets are on sale at the Sacramento Women's Center — 1230 "H" Street; Sacramento Valley No On Six office, 1107 Ninth Street, Suite 1019; and in Davis at Eucalyptus Records, the U C Davis Boxoffice, and the Davis No On Six office located in the Cal Aggie Christian Association House, 433 Russell Blvd.

NO on 6 Update



No on 6 has just a few more days to get years worth of work done. We can use all the volunteers we can get from now to Election Day, Tuesday, November 7.

Our Specific Needs:

— People to go house to house, anytime during the day, dropping off literature.

— People to pass out literature downtown on street corners at lunch, or anywhere there's a crowd.

— People to walk precincts, evenings and on the weekend, going door to door talking to voters about 6.

— And finally, the big bottom line, money. These last few days are the important days for media, which means $. Anything you can spare could be put to good use.

Come by or send your contributions to the No on 6 office at 1107 9th Street, room 1019, or call us to find out how and when to help. No on 6 — 448-6006.

You may not know it but there has been a Gay prescience in the State Capitol for the last year and a half. The group's called California Human Rights Advocates, which is a professional, full time Gay Rights lobbying organization. What you probably also don't know, which is our fault for not getting the message out, is that CHRA can exist only if enough Gay people in California support it with time and money.

This election points out the critical need for a Gay organization to keep a watch on the Legislature. Whether 6 wins or loses next week, the Gay Lobby will become the most important statewide Gay Rights Organization in California. If 6 passes we will need a strong Lobbying Prescience in Sacramento to keep Senator Briggs and his friends from pushing more anti-Gay legislation through. If we win, 6 loses, the climate for the first time will be right for getting action out of the legislature.

CHRA has a statewide Board which sets policy for the organization; a paid full time staff lobbyist, Steve Badeau; and local chapters which are responsible for raising money, doing community outreach, education and helping the Lobbyist by doing Constituent Lobbying. Sacramento has a chapter which meets on the first Thursday of each month at 630 I Street, 7:30 PM. The next meeting will be Thursday, November 2.

Twice a year CHRA has Statewide meetings to elect board members and plan strategy. The next statewide meeting will be here in Sacramento, January 14. The local Sacramento Chapter will host the meeting and has lots of work to do to get ready. The statewide meeting has been set to coincide with the next Gay Rights Citizen Lobby Day, Monday January 15. Last year more than a hundred Gay men, Lesbians and Gay Rights supporters lobbied their Legislators and talked with the Governor's legislative aide. It was a very positive event and should be even better this year.

Remember, to get involved with the only statewide Gay Rights Lobby be at 630 I Street at 7:30 PM on Thursday, November 2.

JOSETTE MONDANARO

Candidates Speaks Out on Gay Rights

You think it's hard deciding for whom to vote; try interviewing the candidates! Try deciphering their positions for an election summary. Just try finding a local telephone number for their campaign headquarters despite all those lawn signs. When you do, here a few things you might discover:

Telephone calls to Evelle Younger (at his Attorney General's Office) are tape recorded.

Some political headquarters are so disorganized (or maybe so tightly controlled) that only head honchos can be of any help, but they're in L. A. (Mike Curb/Evelle Younger).

Other staffs are well informed and eager to meet with gay representatives (March Fong Eu, Mervyn Dymally, Sandy Smoley).

Sometimes the candidate comes right on the line for an interview (Sandy Smoley, Leroy Greene, Tom Hannigan).

Other times the candidate's spokesperson comes on and won't quit coming on . . . and on . . . getting in deeper and deeper, until the positions are murky and unclear, though definitely right wing (Dan Benvenuti).

This campain report contains subjective observations not reflected by terse political statements. After all, once in office the candidate will be making subjective decisions; thus, impressions may ring truer than rhetoric. For example, Dymally opposes Prop 6 (as does everyone else except Hime, Benvenuti, and Younger), but what is his gut reaction to homosexuality? As a matter of fact, Lt. Governor Dymally is very comfortable among us. He speaks out for homphile rights (even in front of primarily non-gay audiences) and he is strongly endorsed by his friend Harvey Milk.

Equally worth considering, what does the difference between media hype and a candidate's statements to a gay reporter tell us? Where are the Matsui commercials on Prop 6, abortion, feminist issues (or is "statesMANship" the issue)? His office claims he is strong on all feminist/gay concerns.

Probably the best thing to do is watch KVIE Channel 6 as each candidate responds to audience questions. You will also have an opportunity to bring up touchy subjects on these programs. Check local listings for each candidate's appearance. Meanwhile, here's MOM . . . GUESS WHAT . . . ! was able to learn about some of those who are running:

SANDY SMOLEY: opposes Prop 6, supports a Koch/Agnos type bill protecting gay civil rights, sees illegal aliens as a problem needing tighter controls, endorses ERA, believes in funding elective abortions, and is solid on other feminist issues. She is dynamic, and goes out of her way to accomodate a person's questions.

ROBERT MATSUI: opposes Prop 6, supports Koch/Agnos, supports the ERA, would fund abortions, his position on illegal aliens is unknown. Mr. Matsui's staff seems too busy — we were lucky to catch answers to our questions. They did not offer an appointment, nor inquire about how they could help us.

VIC FAZIO: Opposes 6, strongly supports Koch/Agnos, voted against the bill banning same-sex marriages, wants tighter controls on illegal aliens, is pro-ERA, favors funding abortions. Our impressions were positive — he volunteered information during our discussion.

REX HIME: supports Prop 6, feels the ERA is unnecessary, as is Kock/Agnos, would not fund abortions, and has no position on illegal aliens. Our impression was neutral, but there was no evasion of our questions.

TOM HANNIGAN: opposes 6, supports the idea of Kock/Agnos, is silent on aliens, would fund abortions, supports ERA and feminist issues. Mr. Hannigan made a point of returning our phone call — no easy thing to do because of his and our schedules. He came across very sincerely, seemed non-threatening and interested in learning more about our concerns.

JEAN MOORHEAD: opposes 6, favors Kock/Agnos, endorses ERA, supports funding of abortions only during the first trimester of pregnancy, is silent on illegal aliens. Our discussion with Ms. Moorhead's headquarters was businesslike rather than personal.

LEROY GREENE: opposes 6, supports civil rights for women/gay people etc., in a general way. He is a strict constructionist, believing the U.S. constitution ipso facto guarantees full rights to all. He was most concerned with this position, and believes feminists should hire a powerful constitutional lawyer to enforce the Constitution. Unfortunately, the Supreme Court has already demonstrated that it doesn't intend to interpret things this way.

DAN BENVENUTI: supports 6, would not fund elective abortions, is for tighter control on illegal aliens. Mr. Benvenuti's representative took great pains in explaining the conservative perspective of Mr. Benvenuti's campaign committee. Our impression was one of sincerity and of a candidate who focuses on law-and-order. He would not be eager to see gays 'validated' by a No vote on 6.

ILLA COLLINS: opposes 6, supports ERA (and lobbied for its extention), has overseen the appointment of women/minority members to city commissions and boards, and seeks to continue economic support of Rape Crisis, Battered Women's Shelter, etc. Since she is running for Supervisor, these are area's she must consider. My impression of her is very favorable — she neither has the manner or style of 'a politician'. Rather she is frank, alert and open to Gay Community matters.

We also gathered information on the major state posts, at least those who either had campaign headquarters in town, or state offices here. The most interesting of these happens to be March Fong Eu, as the Secretary of State position is non-partisan. Typically, that office keeps political records, files initiative and election returns, and maintains various business registrations. Ms. Fong Eu has avoided embroiling herself in any of California's initiatives to date, thus avoiding conflict of interest charges. However, Proposition 6 struck her as so pernicious she has come out strongly against it. Furthermore, in discussion with her campaign manager/daughter, Suyen Fong, it is clear that the Secretary is an embodiment of feminist/minority achievement. It is also notable that her office arranged for the mail-in voter registration program.

Of the candidates for Lt. Governor, Mervyn Dymally is the more accessible, and possibly the most accessible official in California. In the past, gay correspondents have obtained interviews with him on gay issues without difficulty. He is strongly in favor of human rights, and on all the before mentioned issues: abortion funding, Koch/Agnos, ERA etc. The unfortunate impression is that his campaign lacks money — he has not been able to buy the exposure his opponent has. His support comes mostly from minority people

Mike Curb, on the other hand, is campaigning with Evelle Younger. Neither of them is accessible, and both have lots of money. Their main headquarters is in Los Angeles, but the Sacramento area chairwoman was cooperative in obtaining information for us, albeit third-hand. She indicated Curb opposes 6, opposes abortion funding, supports ERA and stricter law enforcement, but is unknown on illegal aliens and the Kock/Agnos bill.

Similarly, Evelle Younger endorses stricter laws and is not on record regarding illegal aliens or Kock/Agnos; however, he does favor Medi-Cal funded abortions. Mr. Younger has been particularly wishy-washy on Prop 6, first opposing it, but now having "no opinion." Our impression is neutral, but we are concerned about his office taping our short conversation. Why?

Jerry Brown is on record in support of abortion funding and the ERA, and in opposition to Prop 6. But he also opposed Proposition 13 — until just before it passed, that is. His illegal alien stand is unclear, his endorsement of feminist issues is generally good — he has appointed many women and minority people to key posts (but then there's Mondanaro . . .). Brown is unreachable for interviews. Period.

Before you cast your ballot, look beyond this

Republican/Democrat listing. We could not reach any of the Peace & Freedom, Libertarian, Prohibition, or American Independent party candidates, but you should know their party platforms; you may find one of them expresses exactly the politics you want. Many of our readers will want to know that Marilyn Seals (P & F candidate for Governor) is a lesbian feminist, for example.

The Peace and Freedom Party stands for an America of social progress. They would nationalize the oil companies, provide complete medical services for all, enact full civil rights legislation, and abolish the special tax breaks for the rich. They are socialist in ideology, oppose Propositions 6 and 7, and insist upon reinstating all services cut off by Prop 13.

Directly opposing everything Marilyn Seals' party believes in, the American Independent Party endorses Prop 13, cutbacks, opposes the ERA, gay rights, etc. They want a "return to the 3 R's in school" and would stop "government interference" in industry. The key word for this party is "Cut". Cut out Medi-Cal funded abortions, cut out social services cut out taxes, cut out affirmative action, cut out regulatory agencies and bureaucracy. Theresa Dietrich is their candidate for governor.

Not nearly so conservative, the Libertarian Party is an amazing mixture of right and left philosophies. Because they do not believe in government regulations, but do believe in constitutional guarantees of freedom, they come out on the side of decriminalizing victimless crimes (prostitution, drugs, gambling, etc.). They are against many social programs. They are pro-free enterprise, pro-renter relief after Prop 13, and pro-tax cuts (1/3 reduction of sales tax). Ed Clark, their gubernatorial candidate, wavered on Prop 6 originally. He was caught between majority rule and minority rights. Now he is very upfront in his opposition to 6.

Only a few words can be said about the Prohibition Party. They are not running any candidates — but they did attempt to survey those on the ballot. They also found it hard to obtain responses (both Brown and Younger failed to respond). However, of those answering their questonnaire, Deitrich (A.I.P.) agreed with them 68% of the time. As their name implies, they are most concerned with prohibiting drinking and enacting moral legislation.

This summary may provide a basis for your election decisions, but we urge you to contact the candidates yourself for further clarification — if candidates' statements, or those made by their campaign quarters, are ever clear on anything.

Most of us are aware of the drastic increase in the price of homes today. For many of you it may be difficult if not impossible to buy a home. Mortgage companies, banks, and savings and loan companies are concerned about this. Right now they are looking for alternatives that will give more people access to the home buying market.

The Federal Housing Authority has already instituted one such program. It is called the F.H.A. Graduated Payment Mortgage. Under this plan, applicants may qualify for approximately 30% more property than they would otherwise be able to purchase. It requires a slightly higher down payment but reduces the monthly payments considerably. The payments increase yearly for a period of five years after which time they stabilize.

Financing is the key to the purchase. You may be qualified to purchase a home and not know it. Or you may be qualified to purchase a more expensive home than you thought. It's certainly worth looking into.

Do you remember the $32,000 house looked at last year and did not buy? This year that house could cost as much as $49,000. If you are seriously thinking of buying your first home, do something about it NOW.

Fundraiser Planned

"Christmas Knights '78"

A talent show and a raffle highlight this years charity fundraiser planned for the Senator Hotel, Dec. 15th. Amateur performers will take the spotlight for prizes and fun at this years 2nd annual Christmas charity benefit. The event, sponsored by the Valley Knights Motorcycle Club, Inc., us again a co-operative effort by area gay social, political, religious, and business organizations. Entry in the talent variety show is free and interested persons will find entry forms at leading gay businesses or organizations or by calling Frenchy at 486-1275.

This year's $1.00 raffle prizes are better than last year's with a $429.00 color TV and a $159.00 queen-sized waterbed (complete with frame, liner, and heater). Raffle tickets also are available from businesses and organizations or be purchased the night of the benefit.

When asked how the Valley Knights got involved in such a charity fundraiser, Paul, the club president, said it is in the club by-laws. "We decided to try to involve the entire gay community in the charity effort and then put the profits where they will help gays. We've asked businesses to sell raffle tickets and door tickets, distribute talent show entry forms, and even donate door prizes. That's asking a lot, but because it is to help needy gays they support us 100%."

Paul also indicates that many different talents from the community are called into action: the drags provide pantomime, fantasy and color, real show people; the religious organizations work to remind us of the real importance of Christmas; the political action groups know how to promote ticket sales; gay student unions promote ticket sales to Sacramento's huge college population; talented technicians are valuable for staging, lighting, and sound; and decorators give the benefit a Christmas atmosphere (on a very tight budget).

Walter, co-chairperson for this year's fundraiser, says that without the combined efforts of these people the event would be a failure. He urges anyone who wants to help to call the Valley Knights at 371-3758.

Other features tentatively planned for the benefit are (1) Photo booth — get your picture taken with Santa or Santa's Sister. (2) Far-out fashions will be displayed between acts (clothing & hairstyles from Sacramento and S.F. merchants on live models). (3) A live band. (4) An R2D2 Christmas tree.

"CHRISTMAS KNIGHTS '78" happens Friday, December 15th, at 8 PM at the Senator Hotel. Tickets are available from most merchants or organizations — donation $1.50 advance, $2.50 at door. Profits from both the raffle and the benefit go to The George Sand Community Benefit Fund, Inc., (a Sacramento charity which aids gays and others).
